After Change

Overview

- Molex is making a change to 4 circuit Right angle HDAC housing. A pair of small radii are being added on the non mating side of the housing.
 - There will be no impact to fit, form or function. The radii are being added in a non-functional area of the housing.
 - The update is being made to the housings to make the molding process more robust.
 - This is a running change, new tooling with the radius will be implemented as current tooling needs to be replaced.
- Part Number Impact
