Subject: End of Life Notice for AC-DC Power Supply

Dear Distributor:

SL Power has been proactively working to identify legacy models that are in jeopardy of long term production. Components availability and new requirements for regulatory upgrades are the main drivers for this process. Next generation products with better technology, more cost effectiveness and higher performance have been developed to replace many of these legacy models.

A price list of SLPE part number with designated End of Life (EOL) Status is attached for your reference, and where applicable, a new product replacement is recommended for possible use.

SL Power offers its Customers an opportunity to make a Last Time Buy (LTB) for any of EOL product part numbers. Please refer to the attached price list, which indicates the EOL products with its referenced Last Time Buy orders dates as illustrated below.
